Discusses Jeck's Singing Resolution.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT CALLED UP

Oregon Congressmen to Amend the Act—George Introduces a Large Number of Bills and Resolutions.

Germany's High-Handed Action.

Dec 12.—Frank H. Mason, United States consul at Basle, Switzerland, asserts and supports by proof, that not only does the government of Germany prohibit the importation of American products for sale and consumption, but forbids the transit of American products through its territory to other countries. The real object of the regulations is not to guard the people of Germany from danger from the use of diseased meats but to protect the dealers in hog products from American competition. European statesmen shrink from the storm that would follow a measure to tax the food of the people, so they invent the theory that American meats are diseased and dangerous and impose a prohibitory tariff in the form of an edict of absolute exclusion, based on sanitary grounds. The German people thereby are made to pay from ten to twenty centimes more per pound for the meat they eat than if American meat were permitted to enter Germany, but are told this discreet mandate which robs them is a measure devised by a paternal government which is anxiously solicitous about their health. Mason says in Switzerland, almost the only country where American meats are permitted to be imported and sold on their merits, their reputation, not only are they higher than before, but command a preference in the market.

Old Stamps for New.

Stamped envelopes will be exchanged at full current rates, envelopes bearing printed cards and pe... also stamped en...

of the Coquille river, asking a forfeiture of the land grant to the Oregon Central railway, asking aid for repairs of the military road from Jacksonville to Fort Klamath, asking aid to build a railroad from Crescent City to The Dalles, asking pay and pensions for Oregon volunteers who served in the Rogue river war, asking for the payment of a balance on the territory of Oregon expended in the Rogue river war and for a grant of lands to soldiers of that and succeeding Indian wars; a memorial from the Astoria chamber of commerce asking for forfeiture of the Oregon Central railroad land grant, a petition from citizens of Oregon asking an appropriation for the improvement of Coquille river, and from citizens of Oregon asking for improvement of the Umpqua river. George also introduced a score of private bills.

TOWNSEND'S JOINT RESOLUTION.

WASHINGTON, Dec 12.—The following is the text of the joint resolution introduced by Representative Townsend in regard to the action of Germany concerning the American hog product:

WHEREAS, The government of the German empire has seen fit to prohibit the importation of American hog products upon the unproven assumption that they are deleterious to public health; and

WHEREAS, Said government of the German empire declined an invitation to send its own experts to this country for the purpose of examining the quality and means of marketing said products; and

WHEREAS, It appears from the proceedings of said government that the same has or claims to have full authority to prohibit the importation of any foreign goods believed to be injurious to health without the assent of the reichstag; therefore be it

Resolved, By the senate and house of representatives that the president be and is hereby authorized during this session of congress to prohibit the importation of any goods which, upon the advice of experts, shall be held to be injurious to health from those countries which upon the same ground prohibit the importation of American products.

CONVERSE'S WOOL TARIFF BILL.

WASHINGTON, Dec 12.—Representative Converse, who introduced a bill yesterday to provide for restoration of the old rates of duty on imported wool, will endeavor to get the bill through the house without waiting for the report of the committee on ways and means or having it discussed by committee of the whole. He intends to seek recognition by the speaker the first day under suspension of the rules. In order to suspend the rules and put the bill through he thinks he will get the requisite two-thirds vote. Converse expects in taking this course to have the proposition voted on its merits and prevent its being handicapped by other tariff amendments, as probably would be the case should

What the Mormons Propose.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—The Daily News will publish a Salt Lake, Utah, special containing an interview with a leading citizen. He says the Mormons regard the reference to polygamy in the president's message as a menace to their political power and their theocratic control of the territory; that their interests are too great for them to emigrate; that they recognize the fact that the people of the United States wrongly regard polygamy as the only legal objection to Mormonism, whereas the fact is polygamy is simply an ally, for use, the real trouble being the Mormon priesthood and its assumption of divine right to rule; that they recognize the fact that their whole system is jeopardized if they retain polygamy, whereas with that feature abolished they are likely to have an indefinite lease of life for the Mormon theocracy. The present legislature, though made up of more anonymous Mormons, is thoroughly the creature of the church. It is probable, therefore, that while the church will keep up a sham opposition it will instruct the legislature to pass a law making polygamy a crime, and the territory thus purged of the only wrong known to the general public will apply for admission as a state with good prospects for getting in, giving the polygamists proportionally increased power.

Effect of the New Tea Laws.

NEW YORK, Dec 12.—[Special.]—Speaking of the recent decision of customs authorities to exclude impure teas, and laws and decisions on the subject, a leading importer said: "The effect of the enforcement of the law has really been felt by exporters in China. In 1881 there was exported from that country 14,865,000 pounds of green teas, as usually adulterated. In 1882 the export fell off to 11,8[illegible]1,000, and in 1883, under the influence of the act of March 2, it has been still further reduced, and will aggregate only about 8,6[illegible]0,000 pounds. It is estimated by those who know at Shanghai as well as in this city that

The Bears Control the Market in the Forenoon but are Routed Before Night.

NEW YORK, Dec 12.—Governments, strong. Railways steady. News and developments in connection with the stock market this forenoon were all bearish. The result was a further general decline of ¼ to 1½. An advance in prices set in about 11 and continued until the close of business. As compared with yesterday's closing prices are ¼ to 1¾ per cent higher, except Missouri Pacific, Northern Pacific preferred and Wabash, which are ½ to ¾ lower.

The governing committee of the stock exchange to-day listed the following securities: $4,[illegible]18,000 of Erie second mortgage bonds, extended to March 1, 1891, at 4½ per cent; $2,732,000 of the general first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the Northern Pacific; $5,000,000 of 6 per cent convertible debenture bonds of Central railway of New Jersey; $[illegible],000,000 first mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, New Mexico; $1,000,000 of the Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Chicago and Pacific western division, 5 per cent bonds; $1,390,000 Hastings and Dakota 7 per cent bonds; $1,000,000 of ten second mortgage bonds of the Louisville and Nashville, New Orleans and Mobile division; $[illegible],000 of the Chicago and Northwestern sinking fund of 1879, and $132,000 of the Denver and Rio Grande 6 per cent first consolidated mortgage bonds.

MONEY, STOCKS AND BONDS.

CHICAGO THE LUCKY CITY.

She Secures the Next Republican National Convention

WHICH WILL BE HELD ON JUNE 3, 1884.

Southern Members Protest Against the Proposed New Basis of Representation and the Matter is Referred.

WASHINGTON, Dec 12.—The national republican committee has elected Senator Sabin chairman and fixed June 3 as the date for holding the convention. Sabin, on taking the chair, said: "While deeply sensible of the distinguished courtesy you have conferred, I am not unmindful of the honor as much as I [illegible] the country at large will be at the announcement of your choice. But being pressed by all parties and in the interest of peace and harmony I cheerfully accept the position. I trust, however, the work of this committee will be characterized with the same unanimity with which I have been elected, and that at the next election a republican president will be chosen with the same unanimous vote of the country. (Applause.)

Kaye of [illegible] then submitted his proposition for a new basis of representation at the next convention. It was laid over for the present.

On motion of [illegible] of New [illegible] a resolution was adopted providing that the chairman appoint three members of the committee, who, together with the chairman and the secretary, shall compose a committee to make arrangements for holding the convention.

CHICAGO THE LUCKY TOWN.

Senator Cullom of Illinois claimed that Chicago was the best convention city in the United States, set forth the advantages of the city in the way of hotel, railroad and telegraphic facilities. It was well known what party was going to be in the next election. The republican party was going to join issue with the democratic party on one of the great financial questions. Its adversaries were accepting [illegible] the great northwest and [illegible] in the fight here, and it was to the interest of the party that the convention be held at Chicago. The republicans of Illinois expected to be in line with the great party and expected that the next republican nominee for president would be elected triumphantly.

Senator Miller of New York said the claim of Senator [illegible] was backed by the great state of New York.

SEVERE STORMS.

Great Britain Swept by Severe Gales that Cause Much Damage.

LONDON, Dec 12.—Violent gales throughout England last evening did much damage in London and provinces. Huge trees were torn up and carried away. Low lying lands near Birmingham were flooded. A portion of the roof of a church at Derby was demolished. The congregation at a church here was also injured. A parish church at Rotherham was much injured. Chimney shafts were blown down at Manchester, Leeds, etc. A large gas holder near Bradford collapsed, and chimneys, works at Widnes were damaged. The Leicester carriage works were destroyed. At Birkenhead great damage was done. The chief officer of a steamer just arrived from Glasgow was killed. At Poole boats were overturned and many buildings damaged. At Lincoln the tower of the [illegible] was taken down. A ship was blown from her moorings in Belfast harbor. At South Shields vessels broke adrift and three wherries were sunk. The British ship Liverpool, from Quebec to [illegible], was a total wreck near [illegible], Scotland. Only a man and boy were saved of the crew. Two persons were killed at Hull and several injured. A portion of Portsmouth is flooded. At Hartlepool many ships were damaged. At Birmingham two persons were killed and a number injured. Three were killed at Manchester. At Dundee three were killed. At Chester a man was blown down in the street and killed. Two persons were killed at Liversedge. A portion of the roof of St. Mary's church at Lerwick was destroyed. Several houses in the suburbs of Nottingham were blown down. A postal telegraph inspector was cut in halves at Leeds. At Bradford monuments in Undercliff cemetery and a portion of the depot of the Midland railway were blown down. Several vessels were wrecked in the Mersey. Two vessels were wrecked at Dunbar, Scotland, and two men were drowned. The lowlands in west Lancashire and the Yarrow district are flooded. At Glasgow the damage to property is very great.

ARRIVAL OF GEN HANCOCK AT SAN FRANCISCO

CALIFORNIA.

General Hancock in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec 12.—General Hancock arrived this evening. He was met at the ferry landing by Governor Stoneman and different delegations representing the municipality and citizens of San Francisco, and the democratic state central committee, who accompanied him to the Palace hotel. When he reached there he was tendered quite an ovation by the immense crowd who had assembled to get a glimpse of the famous general. On alighting from his carriage the general was received with tremendous cheering, when he was conducted to the reception room and from there to his apartments in the hotel. The general acknowledged, in a few words, the complimentary reception that had been tendered him and at the same time expressed fatigue from his long journey. The democratic state central committee will hold another meeting to-morrow afternoon, when, if General Hancock signifies his willingness to accept a public reception, arrangements will be at once made. Mrs Hancock accompanies him.

The Railroad Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—The railroad disagreement has assumed a still more serious aspect, as the example of the Chicago and Alton has been emulated by other roads east of the Missouri river. A new complication has arisen, in that the original objection to cutting of rates has extended to the suppression of street commissions. Of course any such measure as the latter would be unpopular with agents, as it cuts them off from paying perquisites to retainers whose business it is to bring passengers to whatever road makes the largest cut and pays the highest commission. As an agent said to-day to THE OREGONIAN correspondent, the end is not yet, but there is likely to be quite an interesting fight. Some important developments are expected to be made be-and remove functional obstruction, has recently published two articles on this subject, which are of general interest. In the first article on "inward cleanliness" the free use of water, as a detergent to cleanse the mucous surfaces of the alimentary canal and the various important organs connected with it, is strongly recommended, on the theory that the stomach and intestinal canal need cleaning as well as the cuticular covering of the face and hands. The view which this writer, in common with many educated people have adopted regarding inward uncleanliness, is similar to the belief which formerly prevailed among the uneducated classes, that the human stomach became "clogged" and impeded in its functions by accumulations of offending matters—"old rowen" as it was frequently called—which must be removed by large doses of physic. The spring of the year was the time when "old rowen" became most troublesome and bitters and pills were then freely used to remove the supposed gastric accumulations of the winter months. What was regarded as a vulgar conceit, the offspring of ignorance, is now extensively adopted among the educated, though with a very different view of the extent of the evil and the remedy.

Under some conditions of the digestive organs, this writer says, that no agent can prove safer or more salutary than the free use of water. "Those who have morbid conditions of the stomach and bowels, which do not so far impair the general vigor as to prevent attention being given to the ordinary duties of life can use large draughts of water, especially in the morning, with manifest advantage. Obstinate constipation is thereby removed; the normal peristaltic motions of the bowels are restored and the secretions may be vastly improved." The salutary influence of water-drinking among those who resort to the so-called mineral springs, with which the country abounds, which has been supposed to be due to the salts in the water, is now ascribed chiefly to the cleansing of the interior surfaces for which purpose it is only necessary that the water should be pure. Observing medical men now look upon the salts with distrust, or at least as of only secondary importance as curative agents. One of the most popular waters now in use in the United States is that known as the Poland Spring water, which is found near Portland, Maine, and is distinguished only for its purity. In itself this water contains no medicinal properties whatever, and "the same results would be obtained by invalids if the waters, which are distributed in our cities, were used under the same conditions and with the exercise of the same faith as the Maine spring. Ordinary springs, such as are found in every farmer's pasture, are curative springs if the waters are used freely by those who suffer from certain gastric or renal difficulties."

The temperature of water has much to do with its influence upon the system when drunk in considerable quantities. "Many feeble persons cannot take a tumblerful of water at the temperature of 50 deg F. without serious suffering," and hence it is important that the temperature of most of our common spring waters, as they flow from orifices in the ground or through rocks, should be raised by artificial heat before they are freely used. This fact has led to the use of hot water by a large number of invalids, semi-invalids and those in fair health. The employment of hot water for internal use originated in this country, and so eminent a medical authority as the London Lancet speaks of it as a "valuable American contribution to medicine." Dr. Salisbury of Cleveland claims to have been the first to suggest its use, and its beneficial employment in those diseases arising from unhealthy alimentation is now pretty well established. "In those affections, the stomach and bowels become distended and obstructed by the abnormal acetic, butyric hydrosulphuric, lactic and saccharic acid fermentations; and the idea is to wash away those offending matters, and thus aid in introducing normal functional action." Cold water is inadmissible as already stated, in many cases, because it is apt to produce distress in sensitive stomachs.

But the water must not be lukewarm: it must be hot. While tepid water, if taken in considerable quantities, will sometimes produce vomiting; water of a temperature above 100 degrees will produce a downward movement of the bowels. It affords the same relief to persons of weak stomachs as hot and weak tea, when used so warm, that it can only be sipped slowly, and not poured into the stomach as a draught. As regards quantity, no fixed rule is suggested. Perhaps half a pint, a common tumbler full may be regarded as a minimum, and a pint and a half as a maximum quantity to be taken at one time. "The object being mainly to wash out the alimentary canal, carrying down the slime, yeast and bile through normal channels, a few ounces can have but little effect in accomplishing such results. It is assumed that the liver and kidneys are greatly influenced by the hot water treatment, and that they are washed as well as the intestinal canal, the bile being eliminated through the bowels, and not through the blood via the kidneys." The most important time for using it is an hour before breakfast, though it may be used before meals, or in some instances half an hour before retiring to bed. "The digestive apparatus of the weak and morbid needs cleansing after a night of rest—or unrest, as in the case of invalids. A half or whole pint of hot water taken upon getting out of bed in the morning will in most instances soon break up morbid conditions of the bowels, and natural peristaltic motions will be established even in obstinate cases." Its use may be continued so long as it is found to give relief and so long as it contributes to the establishment of "inward cleanliness" and consequent robust health.

In its action upon the system water, when taken in large quantities, fulfils in a degree the same office as floods in brooks and rivers. They detach and carry away from the bed of rivers accumulations of vegetable and animal matters which impair the character of the waters, and obstruct their flow. In like manner the organs of digestion and assimilation may be beneficially washed, and morbid secretions and feculent matter removed. It is a medicinal agent, which comes to us without cost from the laboratory of nature, where it is distilled for the use of men and other animals, and its free use in the morning, inside as well as outside, both hot and cold, is a remedy of great value to defective organizations and a preventive also of some serious diseases. It is possible that the reports which have been circulated concerning the impurity of the water supplied to this city may keep many persons from using it in sufficient quantities to promote "inward cleanliness." We have the authority of one of the best physicians of the city for saying that this water may be safely and freely drank. Those who have defective organizations need "fewer drugs, plenty of pure water, pure air and suitable, properly cooked food."

Matthew Arnold is a trule worried about us. He thinks that we don't pay enough attention to eating. If Mr. Arnold would abandon his present profitable job of reading magazine articles from a lecture platform and try his hand at conducting a boarding house, it would only be a question of time until he modified his views about the American appetite.

A New York financial paper, Thompson's Banknote Reporter says "A paper called The Long Felt Want has been started in Oregon. It must be supplied by those who started it."

service. Before passing to consideration of these measures congress ought to look up the facts and figures of our present pension system. It will find that of the total expenditure for the last fiscal year $60,000,000, or one-fourth of the whole amount, were distributed in pensions, and that the commissioner puts the amount required by him during 1884 and 1885 at $165,000,000. There is no demand from the ex-soldiers to be benefited or from the generous public, for the new measures proposed. The movement is wholly demagogical and rather another effort to play upon the ex-soldiers than an honest purpose to benefit them. The thing has gone far enough. Never before was a government so generous. The soldiers themselves are satisfied.

An examination of the vote cast for Mr. Carlisle for speaker shows how groundless is the charge that his election was the work of the solid south, and therefore calls for a revival of the sectional feeling in the north. Only 60 per cent. of his support came from the south. The states of Michigan and Wisconsin gave all their votes to him, and he also received every vote but one from Illinois, two-thirds of the vote of Iowa, one-third of the vote of Massachusetts, one-third of the vote of California, five-ninths of the vote of Indiana, eleven thirteenths of the vote of the great state of Missouri, and the only vote which Nevada had to give. It should also be remembered that of the thirty-two votes received by Mr. Cox, it is certain that at least nineteen were cast as a compliment to the distinguished New Yorker, and were cast by men who, as between Randall and Carlisle, would have voted for the latter, because he and they are revenue reformers. Of these nineteen, two are from California, two from Massachusetts, one from Illinois, five from New York, one from Iowa, one from North Carolina, two from Missouri, two from Ohio and three from Indiana. On the other hand fully 20 per cent. of Mr. Randall's votes were from the south, and in the canvass the New Orleans Times-Democrat and Picayune, the Memphis Avalanche, Nashville American, Atlanta Constitution, Mobile Register, Birmingham Age, Nashville Banner, Chattanooga Times, Augusta Chronicle, Macon Telegraph, Richmond Dispatch and Houston Post supported him. This list enjoys considerably more than half the daily circulation of the south.

There is something sad in the news that Vanderbilt (Papa), in wrath over his son Willie's losses in Wall street, has cut down the poor youth's allowance to $100,000 a year. It seems almost incredible that wealth could so fossilize a paternal heart. But the father may yet relent. In moments of gayety, pride and splendor he will think how the biting tooth of poverty is gnawing at his son's heart. He will think of the privations to which an income of only $100,000 a year will leave his offspring exposed. He may relent. It is to be hoped that he will. But if he should not, how sad will be the remaining years of his wretched son's existence. Brought up without the care, the education or the training to enable him to become a reporter on John Swinton's Paper, or secure any other situation which would pay him a salary commensurate with his ability to spend money and compelled to get along on $100,000 a year. Horrible thought. It is enough to make all sensible sons refuse to raise rich fathers.

One of the most important issues for congress to consider is the currency question and the report of the controller is one which should receive the studious consideration of every one who is directly interested. One proposition is so patently correct and comprehensive that we quote it entire: "A proper limit to the size of the circulating notes of each bank, and adequate security for the amount to be issued, do more to prevent the organization of fraudulent institutions, in such a broad territory as our own, than any penal provision however stringent." Those who are old enough to remember the "wild cat" banks of the west and south will accept this statement as indisputably true; and those who suffered from the greenback currency will yield to it a ready assent. The great danger to the nation now lies in the surplus revenue, the silver coinage and the dangerous position of the national banks.

The dinners for the members of the Boston city council for ten months cost $34,000 an average of $400 per man, and some old-fashioned folks think this too large a sum to pay for the eating of the city legislature, hearty and democratic as it is. The proprietors of Young's hotel have declined to furnish further refreshments because of the disinclination of the city government to pay for what its members have enjoyed. Boston seems likely to rebel against this particular phase of democracy, not only because of what it is, but also on account of the looseness of economy and theory of responsibility it indicates. As the reaction from the Puritanism of Cromwell's rule reached in the reign of Charles II. the most wanton excess, so the democrats of Boston are able to show their repugnance to brown bread and baked beans, only by extravagance in wines, whisky and the choicest Havanas.

A wise eastern paper says that it costs about 3 per cent. to collect customs, and about 3½ per cent. to collect the whisky and tobacco tax, therefore the whisky and tobacco tax should not be collected. The wise journal has no moral scruples about the collection of a tax upon whisky and tobacco, but agrees that inasmuch as it costs the nation less to collect its revenue through the medium of customs officers, all the revenue should be collected in that way. It does not seem to have occurred to the wise eastern journal that if the collection of a tax were to cost 50 or even 75 per cent. of the whole tax, it might pay to collect it.

A fresh example is not needed to prove that nobility is not always noble; but the fact may be of interest that the new Orange leader, Lord Rossmore, is scarcely more than the "dummy" of a horse jockey. He has great estates in Monaghan and Fermanagh, but they are so heavily mortgaged that he receives but a small income from them. They are virtually owned by Willie Russell, a horse jockey well known in the north of Ireland and in English sporting circles. He keeps a large stable and enters the horses in Lord Rossmore's name. Russell makes well by this system, and can afford to pay the really amiable old nobleman a fair stipend.

The following item appeared in the telegraphic columns of the London Times of a recent date: "In Massachusetts a heavy vote was polled. Mr. George D. Robinson, republican, has probably 15,000 majority over General Butler, the present governor of Pennsylvania. The democrats also elect the majority of the legislature for Virginia, thus securing the return of one of their party as United States senator in the place of Mr. Mason." This gives the English readers about as lucid a view of American affairs as we get of European matters in some of the dispatches from the other side.

The New York Journal of Commerce says there is nothing in the story that the trade dollars are in the hands of suffering people, who took them at par on the faith that a dollar is a dollar. It says they are all held by speculators, who bought them up at eighty-five cents on the dollar, and are now waiting for the profit that would come if the government complaint had been made, created a sensation in the caucus. It would cause a sensation in many parts of the country if the spoils system should be maintained in the senate.

North Carolina republicans say they can carry that state next year, provided they get any reasonable help from the national committee. The republican members of congress can do as much or more to assist them, we think, than the national committee.

In 1876 Mr. Carlisle said: "I deny that the United States is a nation. It is a vicious system that has destroyed sovereign states and oppressed 9,000,000 of people in the south."

A Washington correspondent who has been interviewing members of the national committees, thinks that both conventions next year will be held at Chicago.

The report was referred to the committee on judiciary.

COUNCILMAN ADAMS EXONERATED.

The special investigating committee made the following report which was unanimously adopted:

We your committee to whom was referred the examination of a charge against Councilman W. H. Adams of having entered into an agreement with the ... to prevent adverse legislation on the part of the city, have the honor to report:

That we have made a thorough and searching investigation into the truth of said charge and have taken the testimony of all witnesses who could throw any light on the subject, which testimony is herewith filed and to which we make reference, and we find and conclude that said charges are absolutely without merit and that nothing has been discovered which can in any sense tarnish the character of Councilman Adams or reflect upon his integrity, and furthermore that Councilman Adams should be exonerated completely from any imputation of wrong doing in either act or intent. Respectfully submitted.

... sawmill at Five Points, Union county, when his clothing became entangled in a tumbling shaft and, after making several revolutions with frightful rapidity, all the scalp gave way, his body being thrown some fifteen feet. He suffered intense agony until last Friday, when death came to his relief. He is said to have had a white father and that his mother, a Chinese woman, is now living in San Francisco.

Western Oregon.

A postoffice will shortly be established at Drewsey, on the Malheur reservation. This will be a great convenience to the settlers.

On Monday the city election came off at Newport, Yaquina bay, and resulted as follows: President, C. H. Williams; recorder, W. S. Hufford; treasurer, M. M. Davis; marshal, A. Landis; councilmen—Sam Case, O. Duncan, Wm. Hammond and John W. Brandt.

Union county Record: The election for city officers in Union last Monday was quite spirited, especially in the contest for the office of marshal, there being three candidates—Vince Reeves, Wat. Salisbury and A. J. Goodbrod. Mr. Goodbrod was the successful candidate, and in him our neighbors will find an efficient officer. A. O. Craig was elected mayor, A. K. Jones recorder, J. D. Carroll treasurer, and S. A. Pursel, J. L. Elliott, M. F. Bloch and Jas. Wright councilmen.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Mr. Arnold made $2,000 by his three lectures in Boston.

Mr. Gresham, the postmaster general, denies a rumor that he is about to resign.

Henry Blackburn, English critic and author, is lecturing in Boston on contemporary art.

Mr. Irving will pass Christmas week in Baltimore, where Mr. Wyndham is booked to appear during the same period.

Mgr. Capel intends to linger as the guest of Mrs. Turnure in New York, until after Christmas. He will lecture there thrice, his topics being "Marriage," "Divorce," and "Family."

George Washington's autograph at the sale of the library of the late Joseph J. Cooke, of Providence, R. I., fetched $12; that of Roger Williams $30; Thomas Jefferson's $4, and that of George III $7.

Mr. Arthur has given up his residence at the Soldiers' Home, and is fully installed in the White house for the winter. It is expected that Mrs. McElroy and other relatives will spend the holiday season at the White house.

Mr. Fair of Nevada is put down as the wealthiest man in the United States senate. His riches aggregate $18,000,000; those of Mr. Miller of California $4,000,000; Mr. Sawyer of Wisconsin $7,000,000; Mr. Brown of Georgia $5,000,000; Mr. Palmer of Michigan, $7,500,000; Mr. Sabin of Minnesota $1,000,000, and so on.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes' birthplace, the "old Holmes house" at Cambridge, is to go, the Harvard university buildings crowding it out of existence. It was built in the year 1680 or thereabout. One of its owners, Jonathan Hastings, who lived in it from 1737 to 1742, is said to have originated the word "Yankee," using it to express excellence, speaking of a "Yankee good horse" or "Yankee good cider," and the students are supposed to have disseminated the word.

The Pay of Singers.

Milwaukee Sentinel.

Speaking of singers and actors, it is highly discreditable that they should be compelled to perform for such miserable pittances. Patti gets only $5500 a night for forty nights—$220,000 in all—which her expenses increase the amount to about $240,000 for this period of forty nights. Nilsson receives only some $3000 a night, while Del Puente, Campanini and the rest have to struggle along with a few thousands a night. Irving's income, also, is not above $1000 a night. It is a satisfaction to know, however, that the effete monarchies of Europe do no better than... In Germany and Russia, where the peasantry are ground down to the most abject poverty that the nobility may squander millions on grand opera, the singers make but little if any more than they do in this free country. The American rough sees his opportunity to listen to the opera at any price—if it is necessary to sell his baby for the $10 or $12 necessary to secure a reserved seat, he will do it. He will go to the opera if he has to settle with his creditors for twenty cents on the dollar. Yet with all this sacrifice, singers and actors and lecturers leave the shores of America with only some quarter million each as the result of their few weeks of singing or acting or talking.

The False Prophet of the Democracy.

New York World.

When Hancock was nominated at Cincinnati the drafting [illegible] Colonel McClure telegraphed to his paper that the nomination meant a democratic president and a democratic government in all its departments. This is mentioned in connection with the fact that the same colonel has allowed himself to seek destruction in the election of Carlisle. The colonel should secure immediate service in the army of the False Prophet.

SALEM NOTES.

FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.

SALEM, Dec. 12.

A little son of Dr. E. [illegible] Chase is lying dangerously ill with the scarlet fever.

Mrs. S. [illegible] Jessup returned home from California yesterday after a long absence.

A series of revival meetings are in progress at the Presbyterian church in this city.

Mrs. John W. Crawford will leave the eastern states for home on Wednesday next.

[illegible]'s grocery store commenced its migration yesterday from Piety hill to its new location, just west of the Reed hotel.

Messrs. John Knight and Fred [illegible] have formed a partnership for the purpose of carrying on the business of general blacksmithing in this city.

H. H. Hendricks, city editor of the Daily Statesman, returned home yesterday from a trip to eastern Oregon much improved in his general health.

A special meeting of the Salem board of trade will be held on Thursday evening for the purpose of [illegible] reports from various standing committees.

The ladies of the Christian church are already making arrangements for a very unique entertainment to be given on Christmas night. It promises to be a pleasant affair.

The ladies of the Episcopal church have started in on their annual Christmas decorations, in which laudable enterprise it is but just to remark that, as usual, the genial J. Sellwood takes the lead.

The large mercantile establishment of George E. Aiken, recently deceased, at Silverton, has been closed [illegible]. His energy in business enterprise will be missed [illegible].

Master George Collins, son of Warden Collins of the penitentiary, fell from the rings at the university gymnasium yesterday and broke his arm near the shoulder. Drs. Cusick and [illegible] reset the fractured limb, and the boy is doing as well as could be expected.

Harriet Martineau's Home.

Miss Susan B. Anthony recently visited in England the former home of Harriet Martineau, which now is occupied by a Quaker family. [illegible] chatted with these Friends, [illegible] also saw [illegible] the drawing-room where Emerson, Garrison, Charlotte Bronte and many other [illegible] came to honor Harriet Martineau [illegible] the nights [illegible] where she had slept [illegible] the beautiful lands [illegible] chairs stand there as she left them [illegible] faithful [illegible]
